

Disability Services Liaison Network

Purpose

As Duke University continues its efforts to welcome individuals with disabilities, the number of qualified students with disabilities has continued to increase. In order for the University to ensure timely exploration of reasonable accommodations, academic units have identified individuals to serve as Disability Service Liaisons (DSL). DSL’s work in collaboration with the Director, Disability Management System--Student Access Office.

General Responsibilities

- a. To provide prompt and knowledgeable access to information about mandated disability accommodations, services, and resources at Duke University
- b. To implement the Office of Services for Students with Disabilities Procedures for Students to Receive Accommodations
- c. To effectively ensure disability-related accommodations to qualified students with disabilities
